Inauguration Over, Bricker, Legislature Take Up Jobs

Administrative Branch Returns To G. O. P. Control; Assembly Views Pressing Problems

(By Associated Press)
COLUMBUS, Jan. 10.—Gov. John W. Bricker turned to the pressing problems of governmental business today while other state officials who took office with him began duties in posts relinquished by Democrats.
Induction of the five Republicans yesterday returned the administrative branch of the state government to G. O. P. control, with the exception of state auditor, a post to which Democrat Joseph T. Ferguson was elected in 1936 for a four-year term.
The Republican-dominated 93rd general assembly, prepared, meanwhile, to receive legislation designed to cope with such crucial problems as school and old age pension financing and to hear the governor's message later in the week.
Governor Bricker, in his outdoor inaugural address yesterday, which drew cheers from thousands assembled on the west lawn of the statehouse, pledged honesty and economy as the chief tenets of his two-year term.
He has expressed the belief that state affairs could be administered without imposition of new taxes or increases in existing levies.
Indicating that little time would be lost in putting Bricker's policies into effect, the house finance committee scheduled hearings today on a partial appropriations bill totaling nearly $43,500,000 which Finance Director William S. Evert said topped $3,000,000 from estimates prepared by the outgoing administration, largely through salary reductions.
Submitted yesterday during a brief meeting of the legislature, the bill contained a "safety valve" to prevent state spending agencies from using in any one month more than one-sixth of the half-year appropriation for any item without control board consent.
Among the more pressing matters expected to receive early consideration

CONGRESS MOVES TOWARD WPA SHOWDOWN

Varied Program Arranged for Farm Institute

2-DAY EVENTS ARE ANNOUNCED BY COMMITTEE

Sessions Are Scheduled Wednesday, Thursday Of Next Week

BUSINESS BUREAU TO AID GRANGERS

Talks, Music, Plays, Other Features Are Planned For Meetings

An interesting program, featuring a host of speakers, singers and other entertainers, has been arranged for the 11th annual Salem Farmers Institute to be held Wednesday and Thursday of next week.
Day and night sessions will be held on Wednesday and a day session the second day, at the Memorial building, followed that evening by a program in the High school auditorium for which the Salem Business Bureau will act as sponsor.
Institute play on Jan. 21
The institute play, "Introduction" will be presented at the High school on Saturday, Jan. 21, proceeds of which will defray the costs of the institute. The Salem institute is one of a few in the state which is self-sustaining.
Its sponsors, besides the Business Bureau, include the five granges of the immediate district—Goshen, Salem, Willow Grove, Perry and Mt. Nebo.
Price Cope, general chairman, announced today that a new speaker has been secured for the institute. He is Ralph H. Moyer of Washington, D. C., head of the performance unit of the north central division of the U. S. Agricultural Adjustment Administration.
He will speak the afternoon of the opening day on the subject, "The 1939 Agricultural Adjustment Administration Program and Its Historical Background."
Another guest speaker will be L. R. Rummel of Columbus, of the Ohio Council of Retail Merchants. His topic will be "Why Tax the Chain Stores?"
Assigned By O. S. U.
Speakers assigned to the institute by the Ohio State university service are Asa C. Matten of Fredericksburg and Mrs. Bessie Zigler of Amboy, Ind.
Dr. Charles L. Smith of Salem will speak at the Business Bureau session Thursday evening on the subject, "The Western Reserve."
Still another speaker will be Floyd Lower, Columbiana county agricultural extension agent.
Entertainment features which have been included in the institute program this year will include the Junior Order of United American Mechanics band from Canton; Will Ross, Salem magician and ventriloquist; the Payne Brothers, a Negro quartet from Wellsville, and local

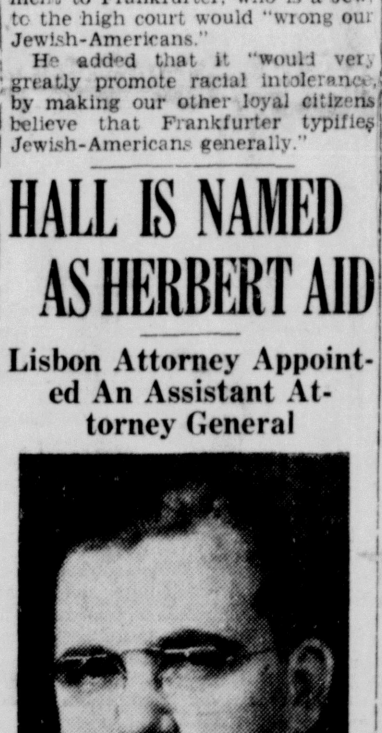

NOMINATION OF JUSTICE IS ASSAILED

Senate Committee Hears Objections To Appointment

WASHINGTON, Jan. 10.—A senate judiciary sub-committee demonstrating marked impatience with some witnesses, heard objections today to the nomination of Felix Frankfurter for the supreme court of the United States.
Witnesses before the committee were George E. Sullivan, Washington attorney; Collis C. Reid, who said he represented the "Constitutional Crusaders of America," and Wade H. Cooper, Washington banker-attorney.
Hearing Room Packed
In a packed hearing room, the witnesses outlined objections to Frankfurter, amid critical questioning by committee members.
Dean A. Acheson, Washington attorney serving as counsel for Frankfurter, carefully took notes of the testimony, but said he would make no statement unless asked by the committee.
Frankfurter, liberal Harvard law professor and New Deal adviser, will succeed the late Justice Benjamin N. Cardozo if his nomination is confirmed by the senate.
Sullivan, who read his testimony from a prepared statement, said he was testifying as "an American citizen and an active practicing attorney."
Hits Alien Birth
He said he objected to the nomination because Frankfurter was alien born.
"Frankfurter was born in Vienna 56 years ago,"
He said that the nominee also had "alien-minded affiliations" with such organizations as the American Civil Liberties union.
The witness said that the appointment to Frankfurter, who is a Jew, to the high court would "wrong out Jewish-Americans."
He added that it "would very greatly promote racial intolerance, by making our other loyal citizens believe that Frankfurter typified Jewish-Americans generally."

HALL IS NAMED AS HERBERT AID

Lisbon Attorney Appointed An Assistant Attorney General

Att'y Gen. Thomas J. Herbert in Columbus announced today that Robert E. Hall of Lisbon had been named as assistant attorney general.

Hall was an unsuccessful candidate for state senator from the 20-22nd senatorial district in the Republican primaries last August, losing on a recount after unofficial returns had declared him a winner of one of the two nominations.
The unusually warm weather at this time of the year continued today, but the temperatures were expected to drop tomorrow, with possible snow flurries.
With the mercury registering 59 degrees this morning, Salem persons are not surprised at the report of Mrs. Raymond Smith at the Orchard Crest farm, who saw a robin today.
The warmer-than-average spell has brought on the buds on apple trees, local orchardists report, but they predicted that there is not likely to be much damage.
However, one grower, D. R. McConnell, pointed out that should sub-zero weather occur, the peach crop for the coming season might be ruined. Buds have appeared on many trees in the district.

Baptists To Join For Church Forum

Pastors and officers of Baptist churches at Locust Grove, Alliance and East Liverpool are expected to join with leaders of the Salem Baptist church for a better-church forum at the local church tonight.
The forum will open with a dinner, served at 6:30. A program will follow. Rev. Paul Judson Morris, director of the Ohio Baptist board of promotion, and Dr. B. D. Weeks, president of Bacone college, the only Baptist college exclusively for Indians in the United States, will be the principal speakers.

Asking for More WPA Cash

Representative Edward T. Taylor (left), of Colorado, and Col. F. C. Harrington, new WPA administrator, go over the figures representing the needs of the Works Progress Administration. Rep. Taylor is chairman of the House appropriations committee holding hearing on President Roosevelt's estimate of $875,000,000 for WPA to operate until July.

Chamberlain Making Bid To Crack Rome-Berlin Axis

British Premier Off For Parley With Mussolini In Definite Move To Weaken Hitler

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
Associated Press Foreign Affairs Writer
NEW YORK, Jan. 10.—British Premier Chamberlain's parley with Mussolini in Italy will be a real success from the standpoint of the European democracies only if it should result unexpectedly in making a crack in the Rome-Berlin axis.
That is so because England and France just recently came to the definite conclusion that Nazi Leader Hitler isn't susceptible to their policy of appeasement.
So they are out to weaken him—a fact which was just beginning to permeate well informed quarters when I left Europe a few days ago.
An obvious method of procedure is to try to split the brotherhood of these two paramount totalitarian chieftains who have been working so closely together that one is the shadow of the other.
Mussolini Possibilities
Probably no one would be more surprised than the austere Mr. Chamberlain if Mussolini should make an about-face. True, neutral observers generally believe it is Duce would be happy if he felt free to safeguard his interests by swinging towards mighty England. Like most people, he doesn't like to have his eggs all in one basket.
The bonds which bind Hitler and Mussolini, however, are heavy. The last thing Mussolini is likely to do at this juncture is to take any action which would draw Hitler's hostility.
Apart from this ultra-delicate question, there are two other important issues into which Mr. Chamberlain is bound to go. One is the trouble-breeding Italian claim to French territories, and the other is the continued activity of the Rome-Berlin axis in supporting Spanish Insurgent Generalissimo Franco.

ENVOYS SUBMIT MILITARY DATA

Kennedy and Bullitt Appear Before Congress Committees

(By Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, Jan. 10.—Two American ambassadors brought confidential information on European conditions today to a secret meeting of the senate and house military committees, which soon will study the administration's defense program.
The envoys—Joseph P. Kennedy and William C. Bullitt, ambassadors to Great Britain and France, respectively—were expected to urge adoption of the armament recommendations to be made by President Roosevelt later this week.
Col. Charles A. Lindbergh's report on German air strength stood high on the list of private information likely to be brought before the committee session.
This data represented first hand information gathered during and after the September Czechoslovakian crisis, which Bullitt and Kennedy watched from their key observation posts.
One report on European air strengths which it was understood would be given the committees said that Great Britain and France capitulated at Munich when it was realized Germany outnumbered them in the air at least two and possibly three to one. Germany, it asserted, has been building planes at the rate of at least 1,000 per month with further plans for expansion.
Both Bullitt and Kennedy have expressed privately their doubts of continued peace in Europe. Together with other diplomats recently reporting here, they believe Germany soon may start pressure on Poland and Roumania to open a corridor into the Soviet Ukraine. The latter than might be supported in a separatist movement from the Soviet Union.

CAMPAIGN ON TRADE PACTS IS LAUNCHED

Treaty Attacks Administration's Reciprocal Agreements

(By Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, Jan. 10.—Rep. Treadway (R-Mass.), opening a Republican attack on the administration's reciprocal trade treaties, predicted today that the present minority party's membership would be strong enough in 1940 to repeal the program.
"The doubling of the representation of the Republican party in the present congress shows that the people are beginning to realize what the New Deal is doing to them," Treadway said on the house floor.
Looks to Next Congress
"In the next congress, we are going to have more than enough Republicans to wipe out the present trade treaty program, which is so detrimental to the interests of our people and restore the Republican policy of protection under which our country has prospered for a century and a half."
Treadway said the purpose of the recently-negotiated British and Canadian agreement was to "further encourage the importations of competitive foreign products which displace the products of our own farm and factories" and take jobs away from the people.
Quiz Correspondents
WASHINGTON, Jan. 10.—The senate commerce committee may question three Washington newspaper correspondents tomorrow in an effort to determine whether Secretary of Commerce Hopkins ever said, "We will spend and spend, and tax and tax and elect and elect."
The committee, it was learned, has asked Arthur Krock, chief of the Washington bureau of the New York Times; Frank Kent, columnist for the Baltimore Sun and Joseph Alsop, also a columnist, to be present tomorrow for hearings on Hopkins' nomination.
A number of newspapers have quoted Hopkins as sounding the spend-tax-elect cry in conversation with a friend while he was WPA administrator.
Hopkins has denied saying it.

SECOND COURT IS ADVOCATED

Bar Association Will Present Bill To General Assembly

LISBON, Jan. 10.—The creation of an additional common pleas court in Columbiana county to handle an ever-increasing court dock at was recommended by the Columbiana County Bar association at a dinner meeting at noon Monday in the Wick hotel.
Members of the association named President Charles Boyd of Wellsville to select a committee to draft a bill for presentation to the state general assembly, advocating the election of a second common pleas judge.
At present all common pleas court cases are heard by the veteran jurist, Judge W. F. Lones.
Bar members also passed a resolution of appreciation to Atty. Francis Lang of East Liverpool, who resigned recently as a member of the notary examining board. He was succeeded by Atty. George L. Laferly. Atty. W. Edmund Peters of Salem is the other notary examiner.
The lawyers of the county will hold a banquet Saturday night, Jan. 21, at the Travelers hotel in East Liverpool, and preliminary plans for this event were made yesterday.

Committee Confers On Appropriations

Members of city council's finance committee met Monday night with City Auditor Karl Webster in the initial conference to draft the annual municipal appropriation ordinance.
The measure, covering the entire 12 months, is expected to be ready for presentation to council as a whole next week. The appropriation is based on estimates received from the county auditor.
Members of the finance committee are A. P. Morris, C. F. Zimmerman and Emmor H. Taylor.

Pottery Reports Are Encouraging

Encouraging reports were received yesterday at the 59th annual pottery and glass ware show which opened Monday morning in Pittsburgh, the management of the Salem China Co. announced today.
The local pottery has its display at the show again this year and is represented personally by J. A. Armstrong, sales manager.
The exhibit includes several new patterns.

Pottery Expands

EAST LIVERPOOL, Jan. 10.—The Edwin M. Knowles China Co. today awarded a contract to the Potters Lumber Co. here, for construction of a one-story concrete, brick and steel addition to its pottery plant at Newell, W. Va.

SENATE DEBATES HOPKINS' POST

House Group Calls Meeting This Afternoon To Make Decision

WASHINGTON, Jan. 10.—Congressional economy advocates and critics of "politics in relief" moved rapidly today toward an initial showdown with Roosevelt forces over the works progress administration.
Interest in the outcome was heightened on Capitol Hill by its being the first test of the President's strength in both house and senate.
On the house side, the issue was drawn by Mr. Roosevelt's request for an $875,000,000 appropriation to finance WPA until June 30, and on the senate side, by his nomination of former WPA Administrator Harry Hopkins to be secretary of commerce.
Influential members of a house subcommittee considering the WPA appropriation predicted a smaller sum would be recommended. Some wanted to cut it as low as $500,000,000.
The subcommittee was called together this afternoon to make its decision.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 10.—The public debt, soaring to new heights, has passed $39,500,000,000.

The treasury announced today that on Jan. 7, it owed $39,502,543,064, which was $2,337,803,649 more than at the beginning of the fiscal year last July 1.

President Roosevelt, asking for another large spending program next year, has said the debt would reach the unprecedented total of $44,457,845,210 by June 30, 1940.

decision. Democratic members of the group held a private conference yesterday afternoon with Speaker Bankhead and Floor Leader Rayburn, but there was no indication whether those administration representatives succeeded in holding them in line or whether a compromise figure was agreed upon.

Needed, Says WPA Chief
WPA Administrator F. C. Harrington declared today that if the President was to make no drastic reduction in relief work, he was understood to have advised the subcommittee that at the present 3,000,000-job level, there still were 1,000,000 persons eligible for work relief who were not getting it.

Rep. Woodrum (D-Va.), subcommittee chairman, said on the other hand it was his belief that "the WPA can stand a substantial curtailment of its program without causing any great suffering by the people who are in need."

Meanwhile, members of the senate commerce committee were studying the report of the campaign expenditures committee, which charged the WPA with political activity, preparatory to questioning Harry Hopkins tomorrow.

Court Continues Leetonia Hearing

LEETONIA, Jan. 10.—Another hearing on Leetonia village's proposed annexation of a part of Fairfield township was conducted at the courthouse in Lisbon yesterday.

The hearing was continued to April 3 when someone questioned the legality of the petitions submitted.

Citizens of the township, as well as the village, and their attorneys were present at the meeting. Between 50 and 60 homes and the Crescent Machine Co. plant are situated in the township area, just east of the village, which Leetonia promoters seek to annex.

Arrested By Gibson

LEETONIA, Jan. 10.—Earl Foust of Franklin Square, arrested last night by Marshal Henry Gibson on a charge of petty larceny, was fined $10 and costs by Mayor John Arnold today.

The marshal charged Foust with stealing auto parts.

CHANGES AT BANK

By the resignation of B. L. Flick as president and director, the Farmers National Bank lost an executive who had risen from the ranks and served during a long period which saw the bank's greatest growth in resources and influence in the community. Thirty-eight years is a long service for any one to give an institution and in departing for new fields of endeavor Mr. Flick can look back upon a career of many accomplishments, for his bank and for his community.

At the same time this bank acquires in F. J. Emehy a man who will bring to the presidency as much prestige as any man in Salem today could give it. For years he has held the highest esteem and goodwill of his community. He has served faithfully, and with the keenest of judgment, many offices of trust in community affairs, and because of his capabilities and integrity his counsel is sought by many organizations.

COUNCIL VICTIMIZED

City council finds itself the victim of another juggling of PWA proposals in the rejection of revised plans for waterworks improvements. Or could it have been misguidance, through lack of knowledge or too much rushing of preliminary action?

When the proposal was split into three definite steps, council was advised that it could take any part of the program. The first step was agreed upon, and immediately the solons were told they could not accept the next two later unless they approved the entire project at once. Refusing this, they were advised again that the first step, already accepted, would be approved. Now PWA officials inform them it must be all or nothing.

Having been given the "run around" a second time, council cannot, in fairness to itself and its constituents, do anything now except say "no". It cannot afford to be fooled again. It cannot afford to take the whole job, which it realizes it does not need and which it also realizes the city engineer has not worked out to the benefit of the city.

From the large program originally presented, council salvaged some improvements which it easily could justify. It did a good job in that respect in the final analysis. It certainly cannot afford to be taken advantage of again. Either PWA is not interested in helping cities get only what they want and can afford, or the city engineer gave a grand demonstration of not knowing what he was doing.

THE AFTER-TASTE

That little powwow at Lima is history now, but the flavor lingers on. It isn't pleasant—in contrast to the formal statements issued at the time.

What United States newspapermen and delegates learned, to their surprise, was that South America is anything but a continent of sweetness and light for the idea of democracy.

The Peruvian government, held in the capable fist of Gen. Oscar R. Benavides, seemed to have as much appreciation of the ways of free men as a goose would have for a pair of shoes.

On every hand were signs that dictatorship, instead of being considered as a possible alternative of democracy, already was solidly established as the method of government. This was true not only of Peru, but of many of the countries represented at Lima.

Americans dearly love to assume they can sell the idea of political liberty by power of example. In all probability, up to the time of the conference at Lima, most of them believed they were winning their daily popularity contest in the southern American hemisphere.

Aside from whatever diplomatic and commercial progress the Lima conference made, it's not improbable that its most valuable result was to remind the land of the free that it already has happened in the new world.

THE ECONOMISTS GAIN CONVERTS

If the spending issue were divorced from politics and made to stand on its own feet, Americans could handle it better.

They understand perfectly that the temptation to spend always has existed. Their representatives win favor more easily by voting Yes on appropriations bills than by voting No—or by voting Yes on tax bills to cover appropriations.

But in former years lavish spending did not represent a deliberate policy. It represented a weakness, and was recognized as such. There was no defense against the charge that government was spending too much. There wasn't even a good alibi.

It remained for the new deal to popularize spending—to spend and spend, tax and tax, elect and elect. Recovery-by-spending became official doctrine. Economists never subscribed to it completely, but they were no match for politicians who had most to gain by spending.

Today, economists are more than ever doubtful that spending and borrowing can induce recovery. Added to the strength of their dissent is increasing doubt among politicians. Spending has ceased to be a perfect formula for getting reelected.

Politicians, themselves, are beginning to turn against it. Spenders have been put on the defensive. They will fight to hold their prestige, but will meet opposition from their own kind. That is the significance of skeptical reaction to the new deal's proposal of a more than nine billion dollar budget for the coming fiscal year.

This year for the first time since the first new deal's economy program was abandoned, pump priming—always an uncertain theory in economics—is going to be approached in Washington as an uncertain theory in politics.

Amsterdam, Jan. 9.—Allied troops are on their way to occupy Berlin at the request of Chancellor Ebert, according to a report from Berlin at noon today.

THE STARS SAY:

For Wednesday, January 11

THERE ARE auguries of sudden and rather drastic movements on this day, according to the lunar aspects. Properly organized and put into execution, this activity may bring unexpected or unusual advantages of profound and lasting duration. It might apply to the personal and cultural rather than business life, as the social, domestic and emotional or higher proclivities are under pleasant stimuli. However, there may be some depressing situation to hamper or nullify very happy prospects. There are signs of much celebration or jollification.

Those whose birthday it is may be prepared for a very active year, in which matters will move at an unusually high tempo. Sudden and drastic moves may be spurred by either social, domestic or emotional urges, with the young and romantic particularly stirred. Nevertheless, there may be a setback, loss or disappointment to cast a shadow on a rather festive occasion.

A child born on this day may have a very deep, studious but aggressive nature. While it may be potent and resourceful in a practical way, it may also have artistic, cultural and possibly metaphysical talents.

HOW LONG?

WASHINGTON, Jan. 10.—How long Vice President Garner and his band of middle-of-the-roads can keep the congressional Democrats marching in step is becoming a question of increasing interest in the capital.

Thus far, they have put up a good show of party unity, in spite of caustic mutterings by some of those in each of the two party factions. This show of hand-holding has taken them through the opening of congress, through a welter of appointments which rankled some conservatives, and up to the spot where they are confronted by deep problems of national policy.

The size of an emergency relief fund is the first issue to bring out differences of opinion. In spending, in national defense, in the farm program, or a half dozen other items, they may find the powder that will shatter all appearance of party harmony.

The constant efforts of Republicans to provoke a Democratic uprising are a factor not to be disregarded. All along the way will spring up opportunities by which the increased minority will try to harass the Democrats.

That they have clung together this long is credited by many congressmen primarily to the operations of the vice president, a plain spoken Texan with homely habits and an amazing lack of most of the requirements for political power.

For the vice president has only an inconsequential amount of patronage. He has no direct tie with the executive arm of government, only a minor, occasional voice in legislation, only an extremely thin list of laws to interpret.

Thus, any power wielded by the vice president is a tenuous instrument welded out of long and old friendships.

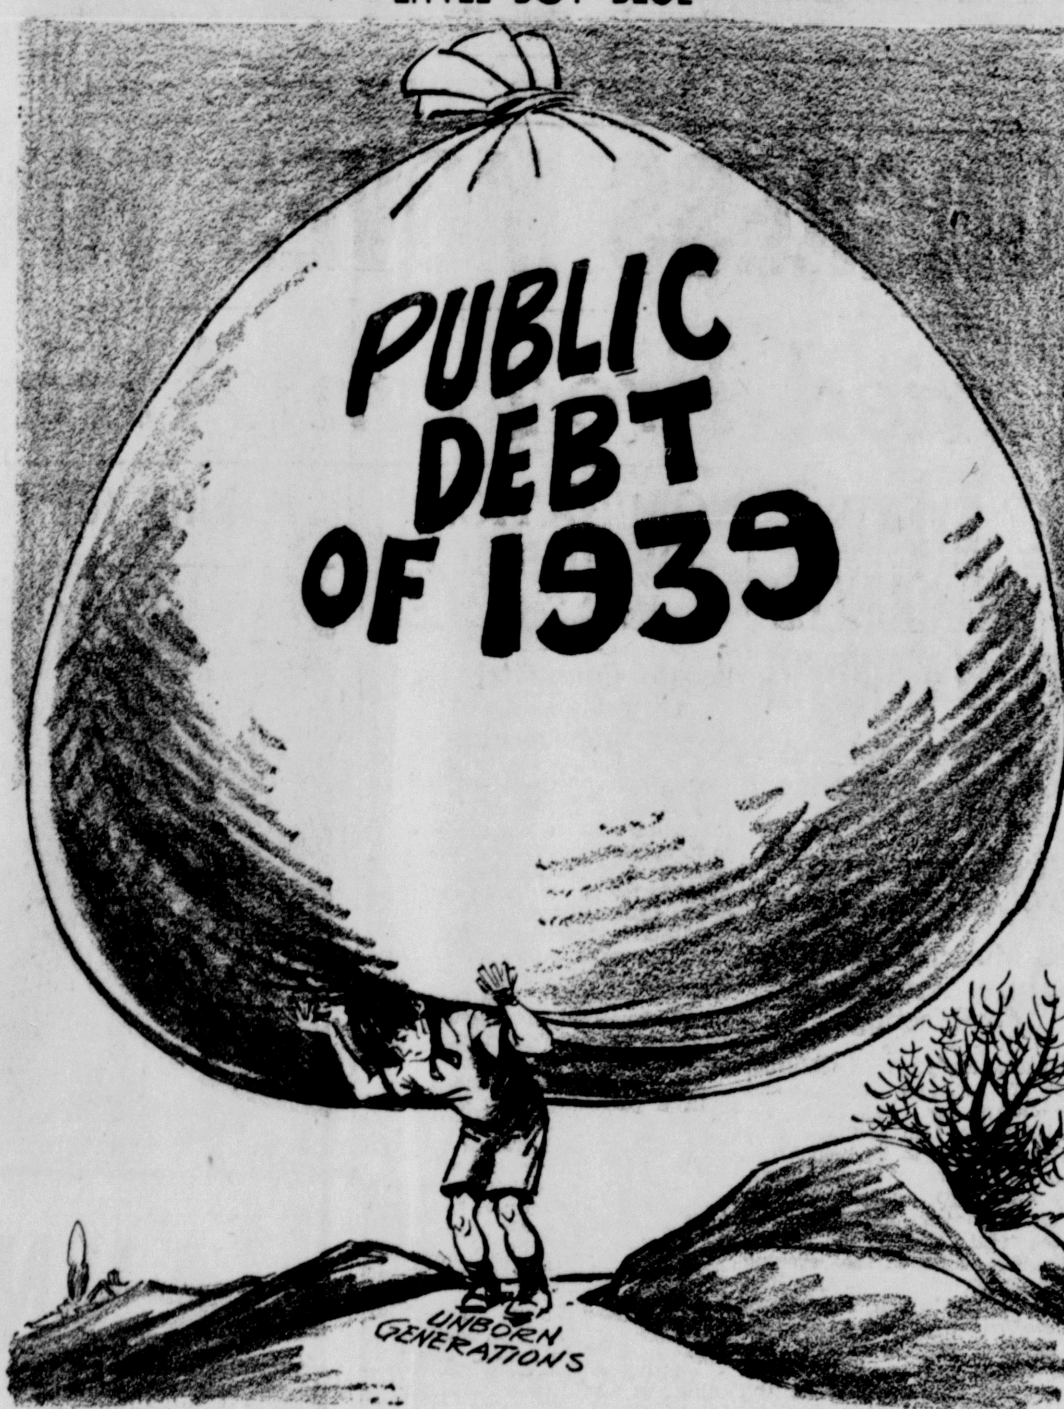

Every important committee of both senate and house has men in strategic positions who look to Garner for friendly advice and counsel. When they come to him, he tells them in short and practical words what he would do.

Sleep And Sleeplessness Are Discussed by Doctor

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.

Complete insomnia, as we hinted at the end of yesterday's article, never occurs. Sleep is a necessary function of the body, as necessary as the liver. If the liver is removed, death occurs. If sleep is removed, death is just as inevitable.

Psychologists and physiologists alike tell us that long, sound sleep at nights is not necessary for perfect health.

But there are gradations of insomnia. For one man the necessary function of sleep may be fulfilled in three hours, and the rest of the night he is staring wide awake. For another, naps all through the 24 may make up a quota of six or seven hours sleep, but most of the night is wakeful. For practical purposes, insomnia may be defined as inability to sleep through the night. And for all the reassurances of the psychologists, it is an extremely disagreeable and even alarming symptom. We like to sleep when all the world is quiet and asleep—insomnia and loneliness go hand in hand.

Fear of Insanity

The fear of insanity is one of the most depressing features of the anxiety about insomnia. It is by all accounts an unfounded fear.

"I have yet to see a patient," writes a physician of Guy's hospital, London, "whose mental disorder could fairly be attributed to sleeplessness."

Dr. Clendening will answer questions of general interest only, and then only through his column.

There are different kinds of insomnia. One person will fall asleep soon after going to bed, and wake up—bang!—staring wide awake, to discover it is one-thirty in the morning. There seems no possibility of any more sleep that night. Then about three or four he falls asleep again and wakes—again completely, instantly—at seven. But he has the feeling that his night has not been restful. The insomnia worries him. For such a person the best treatment is the reading lamp and the book at the side of the bed. If he dismisses worry, if he does not try to court sleep consciously, he will fall asleep again over his book and shorten his waking period.

Then there is the insomniac who worries about getting to sleep. He tosses and counts sheep for hours, finally dozing off in the wee small hours and waking with full daylight upon him. His bad hours are the approach of bedtime. He begins to worry at 9 o'clock. And he knows, to his sorrow, that the more you court the elusive goddess, the more elusive she is.

The treatment of insomnia may take many forms. One is the use of hypnotic medicines. The best of these are the barbiturates, developed within the last few years. They are infinitely superior to the old hypnotic drugs that used to be used. Their names are legion—veronal, luminal, amyl, secobarbital, nembutal—all chemically very much alike. It is generally held that they are habit forming but certainly not markedly so. One report shows that in the medical literature of the world there are only 403 cases of addiction to these drugs.

May Be Treacherous

For persons of unstable personality they may be treacherous. But for level-headed, responsible, individuals, whose insomnia is based on worry about business or illness, an occasional nightly use of them is a life saver. They may affect animals badly, but, as a London doctor writes in a book on insomnia, "A guinea pig never saw his son lying at death's door, and a rabbit never had a letter from a banker about the overdraft."

Then—as another form of treatment—the plan of relaxation advocated by Dr. Jacobson in his book, "You Can Sleep Well, may work for some. Let all the muscles of the body relax—the eye muscles, the speech muscles, all the external muscles of the legs, arms, back and neck. The trouble is that this is just another sheep-counting stunt. While you are relaxing you are constantly wondering when you are going to sleep.

And it is worry that is the cause of most insomnia—especially worry about going to sleep. If you can rise above that, your insomnia will do you no harm, and is likely to disappear.

EDITOR'S NOTE: Seven pamphlets by Dr. Clendening can now be obtained by sending 10 cents in coin, for each, and a self-addressed envelope stamped with a three-cent stamp, to Dr. Logan Clendening, 235 W. 45th st., New York City. The pamphlets are: "Three Weeks' Reducing Diet", "Indigestion and Constipation", "Reducing and Gaining", "Infant Feeding", "Instructions for the Treatment of Diabetes", "Feminine Hygiene" and "The Care of the Hair and Skin".

Music Club In Alliance For Interesting Program

Salem Music Study club members were guests of the Alliance Music Study club at an exchange program in the Woman's club there Monday night.

Mrs. Charles Sperow, president of the Alliance group, welcomed the two clubs. She presented Mrs. Genevieve Bottomley, Alliance program chairman, who introduced Mrs. Edgar F. Miller of Columbiana, president of the Salem Music Study club, who spoke briefly.

Mrs. L. D. Cessna, Salem program chairman, introduced numbers of the entertainment which included: Piano, "Danse Macabre" (Saint Saens); Mrs. Paul Covert; mandolin, parts of "Pirates of Penzance" (Sullivan) and "Pizzicato" from the ballet "Sylvia" (Debussy); Mrs. John T. Burns.

The last half of the program, a pageant of shawls, was in charge of Mrs. Virginia Folger of Columbiana, co-chairman of the committee with Mrs. Cessna.

Tells of History
Mrs. Folger spoke of the history and common use of the shawl for warmth, style and beauty, explaining that the pageant draws a parallelism between the simplicity of the garment and music through the universality, historical background and national types of both. She made short explanatory remarks as each shawl was displayed. The first shawls were made in India under a Mohammedan emperor in 1566, the industry traveling to England in the 1700's and finally throughout the world.

Two Indian shawls, one of which was brought directly from the Vale of Kashmir, on the border between India and Tibet, to England many years ago by the grandmother of the present owner, were displayed by Mrs. Frank J. Stoudt and Mrs. E. E. Dyalbyl who played, as piano duets, three dances by Cyril Scott.

The Scottish Paisley
Mrs. F. E. Griffin of Columbiana, wearing a Paisley shawl, for the manufacture of which a Scottish town became famous, sang the Scotch folk song, "Loch Lomond," accompanied by Mrs. E. T. Coyle.

A modern French shawl, brought home from the World war by a returning soldier, was worn by Miss

While royalty argues over who'll bow to whom, designers are doing all in their power to bring back the Victorian curtsy.

Today, for example, our artist has sketched the new rubber swim suit stretched to the point of 'eyelid embroidery' and a rubber corsage to match the cap's. Vacationists are enthusiastic over shocking pink, porcelain blue and sunshine yellow, in both dressmaker and mailot swim suits.

Incidentally, you can sunbathe on rubber beach mats this season—or take along the one you've been standing on under the shower.

CLUB RESUMES AT COLUMBIANA

Rotary Holds First Meeting Of 1939, Following Holiday Vacation

COLUMBIANA, Jan. 10.—The Columbiana Rotary club opened its 1939 activities Monday evening at Valley Golf club following a vacation during the holiday period.

The speaker was Charles Coakwell, Cleveland, his subject being "The Townsend National Recovery Act."

Mr. Coakwell spoke later at a meeting of the local Townsend club at the Christian church.

Visitors at the meeting were Rotarians Craig Hollis and J. T. Darling, Salem; H. A. Tuttle, Youngstown; Luther Donbar and C. H. Myron, Columbiana.

H. A. Fullerton was program chairman for the evening.

The play, "All A Mistake," will be presented Wednesday and Thursday nights in the High school auditorium by local talent, sponsored by the Old Fellows lodge.

Don Robbins' orchestra, Alliance, will furnish special music and prizes will be given away between acts both nights. A special children's performance will be given tonight.

Members of the cast include E. M. McCurry, Wilbur Hoffee, John Ryan, Jr., Lewis Day, Sally Detweiler, Mrs. Doris Dowd, Helen Percival and Jane Giesch.

The January meeting of the Past Noble Grands' club of Pandora Rebekah lodge, scheduled for this Thursday, has been postponed until Jan. 19.

Frank Henry is seriously ill of bronchial pneumonia at his home.

Mrs. Glen Hawkins, who has been ill at the Salem City hospital, has been taken to the home of her son, Harold Hawkins, at Cornersburg.

Mrs. Roy D. Pavey returned to her home in Columbus Monday following a week's visit with her sister, Mrs. R. J. Eslerly, and family.

Mrs. Virginia Peiger will be the speaker at the meeting of the Girl Reserves this evening.

Mrs. Byron Snyder entered the South Side Youngstown hospital today for a gitter operation.

Today's Pattern

HOUSE DRESS Pattern 4970

There's dash-and-lots of it—in this lustrous little at-home frock! And it can be run up "full speed ahead," as you'll guess on looking at our open-contrast view! There are only two main pattern pieces, with the back part coming to the front in the form of smart yokes at the shoulders! Every detail is charming and youthful, especially when tie-back rounds the pretty pockets and the yoke effect. Even the sleeves are debonair, whether caught in by a button, or softly flared! Nice in a flowered cotton print as springtime, or in the silk. Use a striped fabric for the jaunty, bias-cut version. Remember, the Sewing Instructor Sheet will simplify your dressmaking!

Pattern 4970 is available in misses' and women's sizes 14, 16, 18, 20, 22, 24, 26, 28, 30, 32, 34, 36, 38, 40 and 42. Size 16 takes 3 1/2 yards 35 inch fabric and 2 1/2 yards tie-back.

He Prefers Jail
BUFFALO, N. Y., Jan. 10.—Edward Bartkowiak began a year in jail today in preference to marrying a 17-year-old girl.
The girl had pleaded with City Judge John D. Hillery for leniency when Bartkowiak was tried on charges of stealing railroad tie plates, and confessed her love for him. Judge Hillery suspended sentence and put the 24-year-old defendant on probation when he promised to wed his champion.
But Bartkowiak changed his mind and told the court yesterday that he preferred jail.

CLINIC GAUGES CRIMINAL MIND

Science Seeks to Find Punishment To Fit Individual

CLEVELAND—Those convicted of a crime or a misdemeanor here can expect to spend the next few hours as a "gold fish in a bowl" or a "human guinea pig."

There's no escaping the new psychiatric clinic of municipal and common pleas courts that places the person and his past under a figurative microscope and goes to work.

Men and women who hear the words of conviction from the judge or jury are sent promptly to the clinic, where their life history, intelligence, emotional reactions and personality are exposed.

The clinic, headed by Dr. Royal G. Grossman, is designed to fit the theory: "Let the punishment fit the crime." But it also helps science in recommending that the punishment fit the individual.

Clinic Suggests Punishment
Dr. Grossman, who prescribes punishments for his "patients," may order jail, an institution for the feeble-minded, regular mental treatment, or an everyday sort of job.

While Dr. Grossman was being interviewed, an 18-year-old burglar, whom the clinic head chose to identify only as Joe Smith, was brought in for the tests. He had robbed an inhabited dwelling during the night—a crime punishable by life imprisonment.

Dr. Grossman and his assistant, Miss Gertrude Steuer, set out first to make the youth feel at ease. They realized something must be lacking in the youngster's emotional structure to induce him to rob the home of a friend. He was frightened and forlorn.

"It is of greatest importance to have the confidence of the people who come here," Dr. Grossman explained. "The more confident they are, the more 'en rapport' they are with the person examining them, the more effective the examination."

Parents Were Divorced
Miss Steuer took the young man's case history. A significant fact was that his family had been divorced. Then he was put through a psychological examination by Townsend Lodge.

Friends may call at the home any time.

Remember Him?

Jess Willard

If you are a fight fan, you should recognize this man at the controls of a pusher type plane at the All-American air maneuvers at Miami, Fla. Yes, he is Jess Willard, former world's heavyweight boxing champion, defeated by Jack Dempsey at Toledo, O., in 1919. Dempsey again has come into Willard's life, having offered him a job in one of his restaurants. Willard now referees for a living.

ARTISTS BRAVE KREMLIN'S IRE

Intellectuals Alone Seem Able to Rise From Public Disgrace

MOSCOW — No quarter has been given during the last two years in the fierce struggle for Soviet power.

Very few, a practically negligible number of prominent men who have roused the ire of the Kremlin have made a comeback to public life. These few are not exclusively but mostly intellectuals, or in the Soviet phrase, "intelligentsia."

Time was when such men as Gregory Zinoviev could be expelled from the Communist party and reinstated four times. Nicholas Bukharin eight years ago was known as the "ever-sinning ever-repenting Magdalen." They have been shot.

Men who had risen from utter obscurity to the highest position in the state and industry found themselves cast into the ashcan of Bolshevik history almost as meteorically as they had risen.

In the case of non-political celebrities, the one-way road of preclusion does not seem to apply to such extremes. Temporary eclipse or loss of favor with the authorities and public are not necessarily fatal to artists, writers and composers.

Composer Comes Back

A number of such men against whom relentless campaigns of criticism in the press and public platform had been carried on for months have succeeded in regaining their former positions.

Best-known among the rehabilitated intellectuals is the brilliant young composer, Dimitri Shostakovich—well known in America and England, where his opera, "Lady Macbeth of Mtsensk," was produced.

He is one of the "men who came back."

A few years ago, at the age of 28, Shostakovich was hailed as the towering genius of Soviet music. When least expected, a barrage of vituperative criticism was raised against him, his operas taken off the boards and most of his compositions denounced as "formalist art alien to the needs of the Soviet people."

This was the beginning of a general campaign against so-called "vulgar formalism" in art and literature.

Shostakovich did not despair, but retired to his Leningrad studio to create new formulas, new means of expression which satisfied orthodox Soviet critics and succeeded in singing his way back to first place in Soviet music. Today, producing operas, symphonies, program music, marches, he is one of the few Soviet rubel millionaires.

Meyerhold Also Returns

More amazing has been the return to public life of Vsevolod Meyerhold, founder of the world-famous "Meyerhold school" of drama, who until a year ago shared honors with Stanislavsky as the leading Soviet theater director. Meyerhold's star sank when no lesser figure than Zhadanov, member of the all-powerful politbureau, denounced the Meyerhold theater from the tribune of the Supreme Soviet as "decadent and anti-soviet."

Others who have survived the purge and disgrace have been Afanogenov, Soviet playwright and close friend of Henry Yaroda, ex-scouted former chief of the NKVD, and Sergei Dinamov, Shakespearean expert and literary critic, and Boris Pasternak, prominent Soviet poet.

HOLY LAND WAR HAS ITS HEROES

Lieut. Gordon-Watson Is One of Many Honored For Heroism

LONDON — From time to time the award of military decorations reveals in London some of the heroism which is marking the little war still waged in Palestine.

Chief among the heroes in the latest official list is Lieut. David Michael Lindsay Gordon-Watson, of the Irish Guards, who ran 400 yards under a hail of Arab bullets to pile unexploded bombs around a plane which had been shot down. Then he poured petrol over the machine and laid a short trail which he lighted.

In a flash the plane was ablaze, and, silhouetted against the flames, the lieutenant was a perfect target for Arab marksmen.

This won him the military cross. The same decoration went to Lieut. Vivian Wakefield Steet, of the Devonshire regiment, and to Lieut. Robert King Clark, of the Manchester regiment, for similar acts of gallantry.

Lieut. Street was in an armored car which was preceded by a truck containing seven soldiers. The truck was blown up by a rebel land mine, and then about 50 rebels opened fire. All seven soldiers were killed or wounded.

When the Vickers machine gun in the car jammed, Street jumped from the cover of the car, and after wirelessly for reinforcements, seized a Lewis machine gun from the truck and engaged the rebels. He was assisted only by three men, one of whom was wounded, but he carried the fight to close quarters. He succeeded in holding the Arabs off for 30 minutes until R. A. F. planes arrived.

JOURNAL IN ROW OF 1784 IS GIFT

Copy Of First French Paper Published In U. S. Goes To Library

PHILADELPHIA — A copy of the first issue of the Courier de l'Amérique, first French newspaper published in the United States, has been presented to the University of Pennsylvania library, which was responsible indirectly for the enforced discontinuance of the paper after 26 issues.

Publication of the Courier began here in 1784. The French newspaper was opposed violently to the monarchy in France and when, in that same year, King Louis XVI presented 150 volumes to the library, the Courier criticized university authorities scornfully for accepting them.

The dispute led to a bitter controversy between the paper and a number of prominent citizens, including Francis Hopkinson, a signer of the Declaration of Independence and a member of the university's first graduating class.

As a result, the Courier was virtually suppressed. Uniform postal rates were not in existence at that time and the postmaster-general simply increased rates on the Courier to a prohibitive figure and the paper was forced to suspend publication.

The university library's copy of the Courier's first issue was a gift of Luther Martin, 3rd, of New York, former president of the eGural Alumni Society.

The 100 volumes presented by Louis XVI in 1784 will now share interest with a collection of more than 600 contemporary French works in the fields of literature, art, the classics, history and science, presented to the library recently by France's department of education.

The collection, valued at 20,000 francs, was given to the university in recognition of its contribution toward the development and spread of French literature and science in the United States.

TRADESMEN TOP ROBERTS QUINT FOR FIFTH WIN

Retain Lead In Class B. League, Keep Record Unmarred

Continuing to roar along the unbeaten trail, the Tradesmen Club posted its fifth straight victory by trouncing Roberts' Men's Shop 25 to 11, in one of four Class B league basketball games at the Memorial building last night.

The triumph enabled the Tradesmen to remain in first place in the Class B league's first round race and kept their record for the season unmarred.

Lee Shaffer and Henry Juhn showed the way as the Tradesmen staged a second-half scoring spree to win after trailing by one point, 6 to 7, at halftime. The Tradesmen outscored Roberts' quintet, 19 to 4, in the second half.

Shaffer pounded the basket for four field goals and added one free throw to lead the Tradesmen in scoring with nine points.

Remaining close behind the Tradesmen, the Methodists "A" and the Texaco chalked up their fourth wins of the season. Both of these teams have suffered one defeat to date.

The Methodists came from the rear in the second half to defeat the Carroll Cadets, 27 to 21. The Cadets led at halftime, 14 to 10, but faltered in the second half and were outscored, 17 points to seven.

Frank Theriault was the big gun in the Methodist victory, hooping four field goals and two free throws for 10 points.

The Texaco was pushed over the limit to gain a 19 to 17 victory over a Deming team which had previously lost only one game.

A three-point lead piled up in the first half aided the Tradesmen in chalking up the win. The Pampmakers outscored the Texaco in the second half, 11 points to 10.

After suffering two straight defeats, the Baptists regained a place in the victory column by nosing out the Christians, 14 to 11, in a hard-fought battle.

"Tunney" Snyder scored nine of the Baptists' 14 points to star in the victory. The Baptists led, 7 to 5, at halftime.

BOWLING RESULTS

The Quaker City and American leagues resumed action last night, after two weeks' idleness due to the Christmas and New Year's holidays, with the lead changing hands in the Quaker City loop and the first place team taking it on the chin in the American circuit.

The Althouse Motors moved into the top position in the Quaker City, taking three games from Floding & Reynard Drugs, who were formerly tied with the Burt Capel Realtors for first place. The Realtors dropped from a share of the top position by losing two out of three games with the Hotel Lape.

In other Quaker City matches in the Cadline Service won two games from Assorted Strikes, Harris Garage took 2 of 3 heats with the Economy V-8's. The Salem Motor won two out of three with the Trades Class and the Golden Eagle took two out of three with Coy Buick.

The leading Mullins Foremen of the American league was handed two defeats by the second-place Deming team at the Masonic temple alleys last night, but the setbacks did not drop the Foremen out of the first place position.

The third-place Fernengel's Colts dropped three games to the Electric Furnace, while in other American league matches the Masons won three games from the Carroll Keglers and the Ohio Edison took three heats with the Reich Sports.

PACIFIC COAST COACHES GIVEN NEW CONTRACTS

Even "Tiny" Thornhill Is Retained for Another Season at Stanford

BY RUSSELL J. NEWLAND
SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 10. — Wolves, the stock description for disgruntled alumni, howled long and loud at the doorsteps of some far western football coaches this last season but in each case it now seems, the intended victim managed to yank in the "welcome" mat and slam the door in the face of the intruder.

One of the most notable cases has been that of C. E. "Tiny" Thornhill of Stanford university. The team lost six of nine games played. The material was supposed to be the best in years.

Thornhill, however, is not worrying. From high in the inner councils this department learns that the bulky Stanford mentor has been assured a new three-year contract will be forthcoming next April.

Washington's Jimmy Phelan was the target for written and verbal missiles throughout the season. His contract has one year to go. To buy up the contract of the head coach and his assistants would involve a pretty penny. He'll stay on despite a record of having lost five, won three and tied one.

Howard Jones of Southern California is the man of the hour, now, apparently able to dictate his own terms. The Rose Bowl win over Duke and the swat on the nose delivered to Notre Dame were clinchers. Actually the U. S. C. record was good enough for anyone, nine wins in eleven starts and a tie for the coast conference championship. It was a different story when the Trojans lost the opener to Alabama, struggled through close ones and ran second to Washington.

They were all for riding Jones out of town on a rail early in the season. Yes, Howard agrees that football fans are a tickle lot.

Orin Hollingbery of Washington State, is one coach who can smile. His team lost six conference championship games, all of them, and won two contests of a schedule nine but he was given a vote of confidence by the college.

Leonard Allison of California; Lon Stiner of Oregon State; Doug Fossenden of Montana; Ted Bank of Idaho and Tex Oliver of Oregon breezed through without a fellow from the opposition which all coaches have. So did Ed Madigan of St. Mary's; "Buck" Shaw of Santa Clara and Mike Pecarovich of Gonzaga. Bill Spaulding of U. C. L. A. stepped out to become athletic director and Tom Lieb of Loyola resigned of his own accord.

Amos Alonzo Stang can remain at the College of the Pacific until he is 100 years old if he wishes. He is 75 now and begins his 50th year of coaching this season.

HARNESS HEADS WORK ON RULES

New United Association Draws Up Regulations For Racing Sport

COLUMBUS, Jan. 10. — United States Trotting association directors worked on simplification of racing regulations today under direction of their newly elected president, G. W. Rittenour of Pikeson.

The Ohio was named to head the international group, formed through merger of three parent trotting horse racing bodies, at an organization meeting Sunday.

Rittenour formerly was president of the United Trotting association, which consolidated with the American Trotting Register association and the National Trotting association to bring virtually all harness racing in the United States and Canada under one banner.

Frank L. Wiswall of Albany, N. Y., was elected executive vice president and secretary, and directors said that most of the power attained through the consolidation would be vested in him.

Other officers named were Lawrence Sheppard of Hanover, Pa.; E. E. Irwin of Springfield, Ill.; and Andy Adams of Litchfield, Mich., all vice presidents; Dunbar W. Bostwick of Aiken, S. C., treasurer, and Henry Knapp of Ladd, Ill., assistant to Wiswall.

Rules changes already approved included provisions that: all foals of 1937 and succeeding years must be registered as standard or non-standard bred before a racing license will be issued; eligibility and classifications will be based on the net race earnings instead of the gross as in the past, and every driver must be licensed before being permitted to race.

The merger leaves only the American Trotting association, with headquarters in Chicago, outside the fold. The organization has indicated that it would oppose attempts of the new unit to invade its territory.

Robbins and Halverson tallied eight points apiece to lead the Pirates to a 28 to 14 victory over the Buckeyes in one of four intramural games at the Salem High school gym last night. Freed collected 11 points for the losers.

The Wildcats had an easy time in taking the measure of the Satans, 21 to 9, with Leggett pacing the winners with 11 points. Simon chalked up six points for the Satans.

In the closest game of the night, the Falcons nosed out the Comets, 13 to 12. Ellis led the scoring for both teams in making nine points to aid the Falcons in gaining the victory. Bloor tallied six points for the losers.

Weigand rang up nine points to pace the Aviators to a 25 to 16 victory over the Eagles. Boughton starred for the Eagles.

Salem Faces One of Ohio's Few Remaining Undeclared Court Teams Friday Night

Quakers To Battle Unbeaten Alliance Aviators In One of Two Games This Weekend; New Philadelphia Among Leading Teams

Unbeaten teams were as scarce as snow in July today in Ohio's high school basketball race, following last week's heavy program in which "Old Man Defeat" put the finger on a host of teams which had eluded him in the early-season firing.

One of the few unbeaten teams remaining at the top of the scholastic warfare is Alliance High school's Aviators, who will provide the opposition for Salem High school's Quakers in one of their two games this coming weekend.

The Quakers, who have won two and lost two games to date, will face the undefeated Alliance team at the local gymnasium Friday night in their fifth game of the 1938-39 season.

In their second game of the weekend, the Quakers will meet Youngstown Raven at Youngstown Saturday night.

Among the teams which skidded from the unbeaten ranks for the first time last weekend were Canton McKinley, Massillon, Ashland, Chillicothe and Fairmont of Dayton in Class A, and Butler, Granville and Johnstown in Class B.

Still riding the victory wagon in the "major" loop were Toledo Central Catholic with nine straight; New Philadelphia with eight, Bridgeport and Hillsboro with six, and New Boston, Alliance and Warren with five.

Top-notchers in Class B included Champion with 12 straight, Spring Valley with 11, South Charleston with 10, Harveysburg with nine, Canton Township, Hartsville and Zanesville St. Nicholas with eight, Plymouth with seven, Summit and Utica with six, and Cadiz with five.

Toledo Central stayed on the straight and narrow by beating Rossford 37 to 30. Up in Stark county the toll was terrific, however, as both Massillon and Canton McKinley, unbeaten until last week, dropped two in a row. New Philadelphia, runner-up for the state crown, roared to its seventh and eighth wins by beating Massillon 24 to 1 Friday night, and smacking Akron South 34 to 16 Saturday. Massillon lost Saturday to Barbours 33 to 31 in an overtime encounter.

Canton McKinley was nosed out 24 to 22 by Alliance as the Aviators rang up their fifth straight Friday, and the Akron East squad added insult to injury by beating McKinley the next night 34 to 30, despite 15 points racked up by Nick Roman, Bulldog captain and all-Ohio football end.

Alliance will meet Salem Friday and Barbours Saturday. New Philadelphia matches shots with Uhrichsville Friday and East Liverpool Saturday.

Canton Township and Hartsville, Class B leaders in the Stark county area, won two each last week. Township beat Brewster 42 to 26 and Jackson Township 45-17, while Hartsville won over East Canton 28-18, and Uniontown 34-23.

Newark, defending Class A champ, took Cambridge into camp 46 to 33 for its fifth in six starts, but lost all-Ohio Guard Paul Adams for several weeks, the mid-set suffering a sprained ankle. Bud Wolter led the Wildcats attack with 17 points. The champs meet Coshocton and Lancaster this week.

Champion High of Trumbull county tops Class B with 12 wins, the latest a 21-19 decision over Johnston which had copied eight straight before running into this snag. Warren, Trumbull county's Class A representative, has five in a row, topping Girard 35-15 and Struthers 22-20 in an overtime last week.

Dayton Fairview looms as the toughest in that sector with seven wins in eight starts. Fairview beat Dayton Kiser 32 to 12 last week, and the lone defeat at the hands of that tough Dover squad. Sidney toppled Fairmount out of the unbeaten list 27 to 16 after the Dayton squad had won four in a row. In that same area Spring Valley in Class B won its 11th straight by posing out Reevesville 26 to 24 in an extra session.

The rest of the schools should be glad Zanesville St. Nicholas isn't a member of the state association, and thus is ineligible for tournament play. The Fliers have won eight in a row, beating Columbus, St. Mary's 35-21 Saturday. Gerald McDaniel, center, scored 17 points in that tilt to run his total to 153, an average of 19 per game.

Bridgeport romped to a six-game winning streak, beating Tiltonville 59-29. Steubenville 45-34, and Weirton, W. Va., 33-28, in last week's game. Cadiz stayed up there in Class B with a 34-28 decision over Barnesville and a 56-28 conquest of Woodsfield.

The week's individual laurels went to Bob Crawford of Lucas near Mansfield. All he did was score 25 points when his team beat Lexington 38 to 33. The biggest upset was turned in by Ontario High, Mansfield suburb, when it knocked over the highly-touted Butler team, 23 to 22, ending that club's winning streak at seven. It was Ontario's second win of the campaign.

Up around Lima, where there are no unbeaten teams left, the game is being played, interest being at its keenest pitch in years. Lima South, which has won six and lost one, plays the first of its games with Lima Central this week, assuring another top crowd. The same

Some observers were of the opinion the Cardinal organization had become "bottom heavy" with more mouths than it could profitably feed with its annual harvest of players and receipts.

The roster of Cardinal-owned teams includes three in the AA classification — Columbus in the American Association, Rochester of the International league, and Sacramento of the Pacific Coast league.

The Portsmouth club of the Middle Atlantic league is among the few teams and Postoria of the Ohio State league among those with which the Cardinals have working agreements.

CARDS TO CUT FARM SYSTEM

St. Louis Club Plans To Reduce Number Of Minor League Farms

ST. LOUIS, Jan. 10.—Baseball's pioneer and most extensive "farmers"—the St. Louis Cardinals—indicated today they would open the 1939 season with a 20 percent reduction in the number of minor league clubs in their coast-to-coast system.

As the situation stands, the Cardinals own 17 clubs outside St. Louis, whereas last year they had 16. However, they have working agreements with only eight teams, half of the number in 1938. This a total of 25 this season against 33 last year.

The New York Yankees' success with a few, select farm teams had led to reports that the Cardinals might drastically cut down their holdings.

In contrast to the relatively poor showing of the once high-flying Red Birds, their many farms, the Yankees not only won the American league pennant and the world championship, but two of their minor league teams, Newark and Kansas City, were opponents in the "little world series."

Some observers were of the opinion the Cardinal organization had become "bottom heavy" with more mouths than it could profitably feed with its annual harvest of players and receipts.

Theatre Attractions

Shirley Ross and Bob Hope in a scene from "Thanks for the Memory" showing Wednesday only at the State.

Wednesday-only bills at both theaters present patrons with a good romantic comedy, "Thanks for the Memory" at the State, a mystery adventure, "Arrest Bulldog Drummond," and a comedy, "The Little Adventurers," at the Grand.

The State theater's new film, "Thanks for the Memory," tells the hilarious struggles of a newlywed couple to get ahead in the world despite the ministrations of their friends.

Bob Hope and Shirley Ross, the couple in question, are remembered for their inimitable rendition of the number entitled "Thanks for the Memory" in the "Big Broadcast of '38." Others who have featured roles include Charles Butterworth, Otto Kruger, Hedda Hopper and Roscoe Karns.

Comedy From the Start

The plot dips into comedy right from the start. Bob and Shirley have been married a short time and are trying to get along on Bob's small salary as a salesman while their friends invade their household, eat their food, use their telephone, and make use of all available facilities. To make matters worse, Bob is trying to write the Great American novel on the side, and is having a tough time doing it with all the distractions around him.

Finally Shirley becomes fed up with the state of affairs and decides to go back to work as a model, so that Bob can concentrate on his novel. That's when the real fun starts, for Bob dislikes trying to keep house and write at the same time. Then complications enter. Bob thinks she's going out with the publisher who may take his book. She thinks he is running around with a little southern gal who lives down the hall, in the person of one Patricia "Honey Chile" Wilder. Before it's all straightened out, there are laughs a-plenty.

Bob Hope and Shirley Ross sing a new number in "Thanks for the Memory." It's "Two Sleepy People" and it is the work of the crack composer, Hoagy Carmichael and Frank Loesser.

"Kentucky" Concludes

Last showings of the beautiful "Kentucky," all technicolor film featuring Loretta Young and Richard Greene, with an academy award winning performance by Walter Brennan, will be seen at the State tonight.

The favorite screen sleuth, "Bulldog Drummond," is back in a picture which for thrills, romance and excitement equals any in which he has appeared.

"Arrest Bulldog Drummond" presents something new in military secrets as a theme for the plot. It is an electrical "detonator," which can cause all explosives within a certain radius to go off and so make an enemy powerless. Its theft by a band of international spies and the murder of its eccentric inventor brings John Howard, again playing "Bulldog Drummond," into action against the criminals.

BODY OF GANG VICTIM FOUND

Ex-Convict Shot; 14 Stab Wounds In Shape Of Heart, In Chest

(By Associated Press)
PITTSBURGH, Jan. 10. — In a muddy ditch along an abandoned roadway, Sam Mollise, 49-year-old ex-convict, was found slain today with 14 stab wounds in the shape of a heart on his chest.

The victim also had been shot twice in the head and once in the heart.

Police called it a gang murder. Records at Western penitentiary showed Mollise had been sentenced to serve 15 to 30 years eight years ago for extortion and robbery, and that he was on parole.

His bullet riddled and slashed body was found along an old road known as the "Shades of Death," where legend has it robbers once ambushed a Pittsburgh-to-Steubenville stage and killed all the passengers.

The killing occurred within earshot of a late retiring farmer, Italo Sicher, 40. He told Detectives Michael Ford and Joseph Robinson he heard a car driving up, sounds of a scuffle and then someone crying out.

"Please don't kill me — please don't," Shots rang out, and then something was tossed from the automobile. The car sped away.

Officials of Scotland Yard as difficult to deal with as the spies themselves! Although the Yard has him locked up so that it can tackle the case in peace, Howard makes his escape and rounds up the gang in a series of escapades, which include an airplane chase of a cruise ship, a hand-to-hand battle in the gang's hideout and a miraculous escape from a doomed munitions depot.

Howard is assisted by a number of familiar "Drummond" players. They include Heather Angel, as his winsome fiancée, H. B. Warner, as the long-suffering Inspector Nielson of Scotland Yard, Reginald Denny and E. E. Clive.

Edith Fellows has Cliff Edwards as her teammate in "The Little Adventurers," a story of an orphan who has only a trailer and a horse that can do tricks as worldly possessions and a friend who is a former vaudeville performer.

CLEVELAND — Rev. Dilworth Lupton, pastor of the First Unitarian Church of Cleveland, has published a series of inspirational sermons called "Religion Says You Can."

FIRE DESTROYS NORTH LIMA INN

Venice Gardens Razed; Loss $7,000; Other Buildings Saved

Fire, discovered by a passing truck driver at 2 a. m. today, destroyed the Venice gardens at North Lima and for awhile threatened the North Lima postoffice building and A. & P. store. Loss of the inn was estimated at $7,000.

When all wells in the vicinity were pumped dry, firemen from North Lima and Boardman stretched 1,000 feet of hose to the Ruhlman dam. The use of this water was believed by Fire Chief Earl Brubaker to have saved the adjoining buildings. The gardens building was owned by Eddie Ogletti.

Witnesses Called Before Grand Jury

LISBON, Jan. 10. — The grand jury investigation of 38 cases, not including any which may arise from Prosecutor Karl Stouffer's gambling probe, continued into the second day.

Erie Enjoined

LISBON, Jan. 10.—County commissioners this morning filed an injunction against the Erie railroad here, in an attempt to make a change in the Logstown road by eliminating a steep grade and straightening the track 500 feet on each side of the crossing.

C. E. Denny and John A. Hayden, trustees of the railroad property, are named as defendants.

Test for Drunks

Driver blowing up balloon

No longer will you have to walk a straight line or blow upon an official's countenance to prove you're sober, for this balloon test for drunk drivers does the trick. The breath is released into a special device that registers any alcohol on the breath. In a test at random at New Hyde Park, N. Y., state police found that 25 out of 100 motorists had been drinking.

Chamberlain Making Bid To Crack Rome-Berlin Axis

"Is there anybody so foolish as to believe that Italy and Germany are not intervening in Spain for what they can get out of it?"

Vowed to Smash France
"Germany is in this thing," he continued, "because the fatherland has vowed to smash France one day, and wants to surround with hostile forces. Spain would make a valuable ally for the reich."

"Italy is interested in having an ally at the gateway to the Mediterranean. That would be a serious menace to Britain's control in this zone."

That pretty well sums up what a lot of statesmen are thinking. And that is somewhat of a nut for Premier Chamberlain to crack.

Should he return home from his hunting trip fairly empty handed, it would cause little surprise in any of the chancelleries of Europe.
